120,000 PINTS IN THREE DAYS

Staggering Need For Blood Outlined To Medical Meet

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23 — If a single atomic bomb were dropped on New York City today—with ample warning and in broad daylight—at least 20,000 persons would die before sunrise tomorrow.

Another 40,000 injured would survive, but they would need 80,000 pints of blood within the first 10 hours and 120,000 pints within three days.

The same critical, staggering blood needs would exist in any other target metropolis, and if 10 bombs were dropped in a raid the casualties might exceed 500,000. A Civil Defense medical expert gave those figures today to the Association of American Blood Banks in Minneapolis.

The nation's top blood experts are sure the demand can be filled. High on their agendas are research studies in the widely-hailed "blood expanders"—synthetic substances which have been called the solution to the tremendous blood demands of atomic warfare.

But a survey of these experts yesterday disclosed that the day of the blood substitute, plasma substitute or plasma "expander" is not yet here and will be at least a year in coming.

That means that in the next year the crucial job of stockpiling blood and plasma cannot be performed on a synthetic chemical production line.

It will depend, instead, on the blood donations of the civilian population.

(Editor's Note: "Civilian population" refers to communities like Circleville which has a monthly quota of 125 pints, never yet has made its quota.)

With large-scale production of plasma extenders still in the future, these are the needs the nation must meet in preparation for atomic warfare:

One pint of blood or plasma for every soldier, sailor and airman per year; for civilian defense, one pint for every person in large cities.

And Dr. John B. Alsever, a consultant to the health and special weapons defense division of the federal Civil Defense blood program, said the nation must build a stockpile of six million units—half of them blood, half plasma—with enough in each critical target area to care for the injured during the first 10 hours after an atomic bomb attack.

Col. Douglas B. Kendrick of the Armed Medical Procurement Agency said that of the major plasma expanders, only one—dextran—has undergone sufficient laboratory testing to be ready for experimental field use in Korea.

He added that it will be six months to a year before large-scale production of dextran, which nearly equals plasma in usefulness for the treatment of shock due to loss of blood, gets underway.

Dextran, a product of the fermentation of beet sugar, is suspended in distilled water or a salt solution before it is injected into a vein. It has been approved by the National Research Council and used by a Swedish medical team in Korea.

A second medical expert, Maj. Curtis Artz, head of a surgical research team at Brooke Army Medical Center in Texas, told the blood experts yesterday that dextran "is the most promising of the plasma extenders."

Atlanta Booze Brings Death To 16 Persons

ATLANTA, Oct. 23—The death toll from moonshine liquor rose to 16 today in Atlanta, with 15 other persons hospitalized from the effects of the whisky.

Police arrested four persons on suspicion of manslaughter in a swift crackdown on known liquor dives in a section of the city known as "Peopletown."

Three containers of illegal liquor seized during the police raids were found to react positively to tests for methyl alcohol. The crime laboratory director, Dr. Herman Jones, said the mixture could have been achieved by mixing paint remover with water or by mixing "wood alcohol" (methyl alcohol) with water.

Commie OK Signal Is Awaited

U.S. Admiral Sends For Braid, Medals

MUNSAN, Oct. 23—The Communists today shook up their Korean armistice delegation, but at a late hour had not yet ratified the liaison agreement on terms for resumption of the parley.

There were still hopes that the Red ratification might be received before midnight, thus paving the way for possible start of the new talks at Panmunjom tomorrow.

Allied optimism over the prospects of negotiating an early cease-fire pact was reflected meanwhile in a move made by Vice Adm. Charles Joy, head of the United Nations delegation.

The admiral sent a call to his Tokyo headquarters for shipment of his full-dress blue uniform and all his decorations to the UN armistice base camp at Munsan.

THIS KIND of resplendent regalia is worn only at the most formal occasions such as the signing of an agreement to end a war.

Communist radio broadcasts announced the replacement of two members of the five-man North Korean-Chinese truce delegation.

Chinese Gen. Teng Hua and Korean Gen. Chan Nyong San were replaced, respectively, by Generals Pien Chang-wu and Cheng du Kon.

Significance of this shakeup was not immediately apparent, but some observers said it might mean the Red high command wishes to strengthen its negotiating team for the purpose of obtaining an early armistice.

Chan was the most inactive and inattentive of all the five Red delegates at the negotiations carried out at Kaesong last summer until the Communists abruptly suspended the talks Aug. 23.

Teng appeared to be overshadowed at the conference table by the second Chinese delegate, Gen. Hsieh Fang. The latter was believed to be the "real power" in the Red delegation.

Gen. Nam Il, one of the three North Korean delegates, is chairman of the Communist group. However, he appeared to be frequently consulting with Hsieh during important phases of the negotiations, though Nam Il did the most talking for the Reds.

Sen. Taft Says McCarthy Wrong About Marshall

DES MOINES, Oct. 23—Sen. Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, believes Sen. McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, was too severe in his criticism of Gen. George Marshall.

Addressing the Iowa Bankers Association in Des Moines yesterday, the Ohio senator said the attack on the former secretary of defense was "extreme" and one of the things on which Taft "cannot agree with McCarthy."

General Marshall should never have been charged with "affiliation with any form of Communism," Taft declared.

He added that he did not feel that "one who overstates his case helps his case," but "Senator McCarthy brought attention to the wide extent of Communism in government."

Taft commented that Communists "are not so much of a threat now."

Woman May Lead Dems

Vice-Chairman Eyed By Truman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 — President Truman may pick a woman to serve as interim chairman of the Democratic National Committee to succeed William M. Boyle Jr.

The possibility arose today as it became increasingly evident that the President still has made no final choice for the chairmanship—scheduled to be filled at a national committee meeting in Washington Oct. 31. A decision is hoped for this week.

Administration sources said there is at least a possibility Mr. Truman will pick Mrs. India Edwards, present vice-chairman, he named acting chairman on an interim basis.

Mrs. Edwards has served as district leader of the Democratic Party for many years. She was very active in the presidential campaign of 1948 and has headed the Democratic National Women's Bureau as a vice chairman of the Democratic Party ever since Mr. Truman's election.

BOYLE SUBMITTED his resignation on Oct. 13, citing ill health as the reason for his retirement. He had been the target of a senate investigation of alleged "influence" in government agencies.

Party leaders share the President's known belief that the new chairman should be one against whom no one, Republican or Democrat, could point a finger of suspicion.

Russ-Speaking Pilots Noted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg confirmed for the first time today that Russian-speaking pilots are flying Mig-15 jets attacking United Nations planes along the northern border of Korea.

The Airforce chief of staff said: "We know the enemy has Russian speaking pilots, because we hear them speaking Russian over our inter-communication radio system. Anybody can make what he wants to of that."

Operation Desert Rock Slated To Evaluate American Atomic Power In Tactical Weapons

LAS VEGAS, Oct. 23—Operation Desert Rock—history's first atomic war games—is raising the curtain on atomic artillery as a vital tactical weapon in this, the rapid-twentieth century.

Now—for the first time—man has produced and successfully detonated a small atomic bomb, a miraculous feat which many of the experts doubted could be done.

But it was done. The small A-bomb was exploded proudly, yet unopposed, for the whole world to know about. It blasted its way into our lives yesterday in the dry and dusty desert, shrouded by secrecy and jagged mountains at Nevada test site, some 65 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

While some observers ridiculed the tiny nuclear explosion because they could neither see nor feel its blast, nor see a mighty giant mushrooming cloud soar heavenward, Dr. Alvin C. Graves, an amazingly brilliant scientist who knows, said simply:

"The explosion was neither a fizzle nor a dud."

Graves and Capt. Carroll Tyler, USN retired, co-directors of the Nevada experiments, were tight-lipped about the historic feat, except for Graves' terse and cryptic statement. But for the first time in weeks they appeared relaxed and pleased about the detonation.

Among the VIPs will be members of the Defense Department, armed services committee of both houses of Congress, the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and the appropriations committee of both houses.

Troops, including air-borne, infantry and special tactical outfits, will invade the experiments within a week or 10 days, providing the tests proceed on schedule.

'BLOCKADE' IS SET UP

Egyptian Students Urge Open War With Britain

CAIRO, Oct. 23—Egyptian police fired into the air and hurled tear gas bombs today in dispersing a big crowd of Cairo students and workers demanding a war to oust the British from the Suez Canal Zone.

The action came as the British setup a partial railway blockade in the canal zone area, but—ironically—allowed Egyptian army supply trains to pass through unmolested.

The demonstrating Egyptians tried to force their way through the heart of Cairo towards the garden city district where the British and American embassies are located. "Give us arms for a national struggle," they shouted.

A Khartoum dispatch disclosed that steel-helmeted Sudanese police armed with batons and riot shields dispersed a similar student demonstration in that Anglo-Egyptian Sudan capital last night. Egypt has demanded full control over the Sudan.

IN LONDON it was reported that 700 troops entrained for Southampton and are scheduled to sail for the Suez tomorrow aboard the troopship Empire Medway. The War Office and defense ministry refused to confirm the report.

Premier Nahas Pasha, who initiated attempts to expel the British from Egypt by canceling a military treaty, told Egyptians last night that the British were an "enemy usurper... who has lost his head."

"We are about to bring him to severe account," said the premier, without saying what his next step would be.

British troops now control all exits and entrances into the vital canal zone. Army troops took over railroad signal boxes and other control points to enforce the partial train blockade.

Egyptian army supply trains and those carrying food were allowed to move, however.

The British blockade was imposed early this morning, according to a British general headquarters communiqué. It came as a reprisal for the refusal of Egyptians to provide military trains for a British infantry brigade.

The brigade arrived at Port Said yesterday as part of the buildup of British forces in the canal zone.

Red Activities In Ohio Told By Reporter

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23 — A Cincinnati newsman, who was an intelligence officer for six years in Europe, has whipped off the mask on Communist activities in Ohio.

James Ratliff, in an address yesterday before 500 members of the Kiwanis Club and the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, said he found a group of Reds in Cincinnati which included "three professors, three doctors, three dentists, a famous restaurant owner and 16 labor leaders."

The Cincinnati Enquirer reporter told the group the Communist technique is not to have large numbers but influential ones "masked" to carry on the work of infiltration.

The investigation he conducted uncovered 175 known Communists among the city's 750,000 inhabitants and also a list of 12 key plants marked for sabotage in the event of war.

He said the situation in Cleveland is "10 times as bad as Cincinnati," citing the fact that a Communist Party member there received 75,000 votes as a candidate for the school board.

Night Travel Is Dangerous

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23—Ohio motorists cut chances of reaching home alive by almost 60 percent when traveling by night instead of day.

Highway Director T. J. Kauer said a study by the division of traffic and safety shows 56 percent of fatal traffic accidents in Ohio occurred at night in 1950.

He pointed out that this was three times the day rate although night travel is only one-third of daily traffic.

Lima Sheriff, Prosecutor Hold Separate Raids

LIMA, Oct. 23—A bizarre situation has developed in Lima involving separate gambling raids on Club 30 by the sheriff's office and the Allen County prosecutor.

The net result was the arrest of 13 men yesterday in the second raid led by Prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers and the arrest of one by Sheriff William R. Dailey last Wednesday.

Bowers' group also confiscated a crap table, roulette wheel and a table, blackjack table and $1,000 in cash found on the tables and in cash drawers.

His raid was held up, however, when Sheriff Dailey arrested two township constables, who comprised the prosecutor's raiding party, while they were "casing" the establishment.

Constables Paul Shafer and Robert Barnum were held for seven hours after their arrest on a call from an elevator watchman to the sheriff's office.

THEY WERE booked on "suspicion of larceny and carrying concealed weapons."

After their release, Bowers proceeded with the raid. Six of the seven arraigned yesterday pleaded guilty and were fined $50 each. The other seven are to be arraigned today.

In his raid, Dailey arrested Jack Ross, 39, of Newport, Ky., alias Phil Rosen, 44, whom Bowers identified as one of the 13 caught in his net.

'TRUMAN MIRACLE' SOUGHT

Gamblers Say Laborites Sure To Lose Election

LONDON, Oct. 23 — The Labor Party is fighting for its life in Britain today and professional gamblers are betting it is fighting a losing battle.

They are giving three to one that 48 hours from now, Socialism's six-year rule of Britain will be doomed to defeat in a national election, according to International News Service.

Laborite campaigners are hoping, however, for a "Truman miracle."

Encouraged by signs of increased Labor Party strength during the campaign, they think that Socialism might pull the same surprise that Mr. Truman did in the last American presidential election.

The Conservatives believe that the Socialists' "do or die" campaign merely will serve to narrow the margin of the Conservative Party victory.

NEVERTHELESS, it is recognized anything could happen in view of the determined fight the Laborites are making.

Stung by early predictions that Socialism is going to lose heavily, the Labor Party has succeeded in bestirring itself.

The rank and file is showing greater energy and resolution than in 1950 while Labor candidates appear to be receiving more effective trade union support than before.

Labor is portraying itself as a peace party while a widespread whispering campaign pictures Conservative Leader Winston Churchill as a willing tool of alleged American imperialism whose policies inevitably will lead Britain to war.

Meanwhile, confident Conservatives, led by the "old warrior" himself, Churchill, are concentrating their final campaign attack against the Laborites on three lines:

1. Socialism's failure to solve domestic problems and save Britain from a grave economic crisis.
2. The Labor government's handling or mishandling of foreign problems such as Iran and Egypt.
3. Disunity within the Labor Party indicating, according to the Tories, the Socialists' inability to maintain a stable government.

Ike Backer Off For Conference On Politics

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—One member of the Eisenhower-for-President team sails for Europe today and a second, Sen. Duff (R) Pa., will go as soon as the Eisenhower campaign organization is formally announced.

Sen. Carlson (R) Kans., in whose home state the central "Ike" campaign headquarters is to be established, leaves New York today and in the course of a European vacation plans to confer with Gen. Eisenhower in Paris.

Duff wants to wait until the formal machinery of the movement pushing the general for the GOP presidential nomination is brought into the open. This will be in about ten days or two weeks, he indicates.

Then he will be ready to go and see the European commander to nail down the general's availability for the nomination and convince him that there is a real groundswell in motion which he should not deny.

The plans of the pro-Eisenhower people have been pushed by the declaration of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, that he is a candidate for the GOP nomination. Holding back the Eisenhower campaign until January was made all the more difficult by Taft's announcement.

Carlson, a former governor of Eisenhower's native state of Kansas, will undoubtedly present the argument of the Kansas Republicans led by GOP National Committeeman Harry Darby and himself. They want the "Ike-for-President" movement to stem from Topeka and not be too closely tagged with the eastern internationalist Republican faction.

Operation Desert Rock Slated To Evaluate American Atomic Power In Tactical Weapons

LAS VEGAS, Oct. 23—Operation Desert Rock—history's first atomic war games—is raising the curtain on atomic artillery as a vital tactical weapon in this, the rapid-paced Twentieth Century.

Now—for the first time—man has produced and successfully detonated a small atom bomb, a miraculous feat which many of the experts doubted could be done.

But it was done.

The small A-bomb was exploded proudly, yet unopposedly, for the whole world to know about. It blasted its way into our lives yesterday in the dry and dusty desert, shrouded by secrecy and jagged mountains at Nevada test site, some 65 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

While some observers ridiculed the tiny nuclear explosion because they could neither see nor feel its blast, nor see a mighty giant mushrooming cloud soar heavenward, Dr. Alvin C. Graves, an amazingly brilliant scientist who knows, said simply:

"The explosion was neither a fizzle nor a dud."

Graves and Capt. Carroll Tyler, USN retired, co-directors of the Nevada experiments, were tight-lipped about the historic feat, except for Graves' terse and cryptic statement. But for the first time in weeks they appeared relaxed and pleased about the detonation.

THIRD RUSSIAN A-BLAST IS PONDERED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Speculation on Russia's third atomic blast centered today on whether Premier Stalin was making a bid for a world conference on A-weapons or trying to bolster the morale of Soviet satellites.

President Truman's announcement of the Russian detonation came only hours after the United States started tests of tactical atomic weapons designed to support ground troops.

Army and Atomic Energy Commission officials hailed the Nevada tests as the birth of a new and horrible military tool which could make Western armies unbeatable in warfare.

President Truman said the latest Russian detonation had been made since Oct. 3, when he reported a second explosion by the Soviets in their atomic bomb experiments. The first was in September, 1949.

After the first Russian atomic explosion, the Soviets made a bid in the United Nations General Assembly for the outlawing of all atomic weapons. However, the Reds balked when the majority of UN members insisted on a system of international controls.

There was some speculation that Russia might revive her previous demands when the UN assembly meets in Paris in November.

President Truman on Oct. 15 invited Russia to an atomic conference with the free nations and called upon the Kremlin leaders to "lay aside their aggressive plans and their phony peace propaganda."

Contamination and security squads scoured the test area today to prepare the site for one of history's most intriguing chapters—atomic warfare. Special crews examined the immediate area where the baby A-bomb was exploded, instruments and equipment checked, re-checked and calibrated for the important job ahead.

Spokesmen for the Atomic Energy Commission continually have hinted that Operation Desert Rock is an important integral part of a well-laid over-all plan to develop the country's offensive and defensive arms.

The tight security lid makes reporting these war games difficult if not nearly impossible, but it is apparent that mankind is opening a door and entering another room.

And while we now are developing tactical atomic weapons of war we cherish within ourselves a secret hope that the miracle of fissionable material can be turned over to succeeding generations to make the world more productive and a cleaner earth.

THESE INCLUDED nine B-29 Superforts, 54 F-84 Thunderjets and 34 F-86 Sabrejets as well as some Shooting Star jet fighter-bombers.
One of the big B-29s was shot down and plunged into the nearby Yellow Sea. Fate of its crew was not immediately announced. Also downed was one of the escorting Thunderjets, the pilot of which was killed.
Several of the Superforts struggled back to their bases, damaged by Communist jet fire in the wild dogfights.
The spectacular air battle raged as ground action dwindled to patrol clashes except on the central front where Allied tanks stabbed a mile north of Kumsong up the valleys on both sides of that Red supply hub.

Reds Holding 'Stolen Town'

BERLIN, Oct. 23 — The status of the Berlin suburb of Steinstuecken, seized by the Russians last week, remains unsettled today and the Communists give no sign of giving back the community.
The district was an American "island" in the Soviet zone under terms of the Potsdam treaty until the Reds moved in.
The Communist action drew a stiff protest from Maj. Gen. Lemuel Mathewson, U. S. commander in Berlin.

Cigaret Tax Change Outlined By Ohio Chief

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23—Commissioner of Internal Revenue John B. Dunlap issued a statement today calling the attention of manufacturers and importers of, and wholesale and retail dealers in, small cigarettes (including the standard and so-called "king" sizes), to the fact that the Revenue Act of 1951 provides for an increase in the rate of the federal tax on small cigarettes from $3.50 to $4 per thousand, effective Nov. 1.
The act also imposes a floor-stocks tax of fifty cents per thousand (equal to one cent on each standard package of twenty) on all stamped (tax paid) small cigarettes held by manufacturers, importers, dealers, and other persons, for sale at the first month of Nov. 1, the day on which the increase becomes effective.
The commissioner emphasized the need for every manufacturer, importer and wholesale and retail dealer, to take an actual inventory of all stamped small cigarettes (including "king" sizes) on hand at the first month of Nov. 1, in order to prepare and file with the collector of internal revenue of the district a return and inventory covering the tax due.
In addition manufacturers and importers are required to include in their returns and inventories unattached small cigarettes at a rate of $3.50 per thousand on hand Nov. 1, for the purpose of payment of the difference between the amount paid for the stamps at the $3.50 rate and the cost of the stamps on and after that date.

ALL UNATTACHED stamps in transit to manufacturers and importers on Nov. 1, purchased at the lower rate, are also required to be included in the returns and inventories.
The floor stocks tax return and inventory forms, Form 187, Revised, prescribed for the use of wholesale and retail dealers, and Form 188, Revised, prescribed for use of manufacturers and importers, are now in the hands of the printer and efforts are being made to have these forms delivered to collectors of internal revenue in time for distribution to manufacturers, importers, and wholesale and retail dealers by Nov. 1.

Every person liable to file return and pay floor stocks tax on small cigarettes (including "king" sizes) should apply to the collector of internal revenue in Columbus for the necessary floor stocks tax return and inventory form.
The act requires a complete and accurate floor stocks tax return to be filed and tax paid to the appropriate collector of internal revenue on or before Dec. 31, 1951.
The commissioner also emphasized the importance for every manufacturer, importer and dealer to keep a copy of the cigarette floor stocks tax return and inventory filed by him, as well as any other records showing the details of the inventory and how and by whom it was taken, and other information sufficient to enable the commissioner to determine whether the correct amount of floor stocks tax has been reported and paid.

Dramatic Corn Borer Battle Aided By Little Fly With A Long Name

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—A dramatic phase of insect warfare, fought by jungle law, but backed by three decades of scientific research, is quietly reaching a climax on the nation's seemingly peaceful cornfields.

The battle lines are carefully drawn by Agriculture Department scientists who are determined to rid the nation of the disastrous European corn borer. These insect pests have threatened crop after crop throughout the Corn belt, wreaking as much as $350 million worth of damage in a single season.

Today the threat is greatly reduced. Corn borers are reported to be dying by the billions in large areas of the country.

The experts believe that 40 to 60 percent of them will be destroyed by season's end.

THIS BIG JOB is being done by a little fly with a long name—Lydella stabulans griseocens—a natural enemy of the corn borer.

More than 30 years ago the Lydella fly was found by insect specialists who toured Europe and the Orient searching for a parasite that would attract only this corn pest.

Back in the United States it appeared that any of 22 such insects would do the job, but one by one they failed.

Only since 1949 has the Lydella spread far enough to fulfill the hopes of scientists who dreamed of biological war between the borers and their parasite enemies.

Corn farmers remember 1949 as a year of record losses to the borer. But during the same period the Lydella was spreading far and fast.

Last year, weather was an important factor in borer control—but new colonies of Lydella killed off borers by the millions.

It was not until this Summer that Lydella, after 30 years of effort, was finally accomplishing its mission in the United States.

But, jubilant Agriculture Department scientists hasten to add, the fight against the borer is far from over. Parasites such as that rarely win a complete victory over their enemy.

Nevertheless, reports from the field show that Lydella was worth three decades of culture and care.

The accident happened at about 2 a. m. when a car driven by John A. Ryan of 1028 South Court street, secretary of Pickaway County Soldier's Relief Commission and former pharmacy manager here, struck the rear of a tractor-trailer outfit operated by George Bryant Williams, 40, of Mayodan, S. C. Both were southbound.

Circleville Police Officers John White and Robert Temple said the tractor-trailer had halted for a traffic signal at the intersection.

Ryan was taken to Berger hospital for emergency treatment, later transferred to White Cross hospital, Columbus.

White Cross officials said he suffered a fractured pelvis, fractures of the upper and lower jaws, fractured nose, multiple lacerations, bruises and abdominal injuries. His condition was reported "good" at noon Tuesday.

Police said the front end of the auto was badly damaged. Minor damages to the rear of the trailer were reported.

10 Teen-Agers Go To Court

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23—Ten Licking County teen-agers are being held under $500 bond today on charges of destroying 85 to 100 rural mailboxes.

The youths were bound over to the federal grand jury yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Robert W. Newlon.

Postal inspectors said the group drove through the country at night tossing apples at the boxes in what they thought "would be fun."

Slot Machine Injunction Eyed By Urbana Court

URBANA, Oct. 23 — A motion to dismiss an injunction blocking enforcement of the state's new anti-slot machine law is under advisement today by Common Pleas Judge Arthur Tudor of Hardin County.

The development followed a brief hearing yesterday in the case of Albert Dodson of Urbana, operator of the United Amusements Co., which tests the constitutionality of the law making it a felony to possess, own or transport slot machines in Ohio.

Attorney General C. William O'Neill is pushing the test case.

Dodson has said he owns $10,000 worth of machines and has been granted a temporary restraining order prohibiting officials from taking action against him under the new law.

General Accepts Gift Of Oysters From U.S. Hotel

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's taste for oysters will be satisfied at the rate of a half a barrel a month between September and May.

The management of a St. Louis hotel said today that it plans to ship 300 chincoteague oysters during the eight-month season to the general at his Paris headquarters.

Hotel Manager Don Mumford said Eisenhower was delighted with the ocean-grown chincoteague oysters during his three visits to St. Louis in the last two years.

Mumford, concerned because the five-star general may not find European oysters as tasteful as the American kind, wrote Eisenhower asking if he would accept the monthly consignment as a gift of the hotel.

Mumford said the general accepted—with thanks.

Cigaret Tax Change Outlined By Ohio Chief

COLUMBUS, Oct. 23—Commissioner of Internal Revenue John B. Dunlap issued a statement today calling the attention of manufacturers and importers of, and wholesale and retail dealers in, small cigarettes (including the standard and so-called "king" sizes), to the fact that the Revenue Act of 1951 provides for an increase in the rate of the federal tax on small cigarettes from $3.50 to $4 per thousand, effective Nov. 1.

The act also imposes a floor stocks tax of fifty cents per thousand (equal to one cent on each standard package of twenty) on all stamped (tax paid) small cigarettes held by manufacturers, importers, dealers, and other persons, for sale at the first moment of Nov. 1, the day on which the increase becomes effective.

The commissioner emphasized the need for every manufacturer, importer and wholesale and retail dealer, to take an actual inventory of all stamped small cigarettes (including "king" sizes) on hand at the first moment of Nov. 1, in order to prepare and file with the collector of internal revenue of the district a return and inventory covering the tax due.

In addition manufacturers and importers are required to include in their returns and inventories unattached small cigarettes stamps (including "king" sizes) on hand Nov. 1, for the purpose of payment of the difference between the amount paid for the stamps at the $3.50 rate and the cost of the stamps on and after that date.

ALL UNATTACHED stamps in transit to manufacturers and importers on Nov. 1, purchased at the lower rate, are also required to be included in the returns and inventories.

The floor stocks tax return and inventory forms, Form 187, Revised, prescribed for the use of wholesale and retail dealers, and Form 188, Revised, prescribed for use of manufacturers and importers, are now in the hands of the printer and efforts are being made to have these forms delivered to collectors of internal revenue in time for distribution to manufacturers, importers, and wholesale and retail dealers by Nov. 1.

Every person liable to file return and pay floor stocks tax on small cigarettes (including "king" sizes) should apply to the collector of internal revenue in Columbus for the necessary floor stocks tax return and inventory form.

The act requires a complete and accurate floor stocks tax return to be filed and tax paid to the appropriate collector of internal revenue on or before Dec. 31, 1951.

The commissioner also emphasized the importance for every manufacturer, importer and dealer to keep a copy of the cigarette floor stocks tax return and inventory filed by him, as well as any other records showing the details of the inventory and how and by whom it was taken, and other information sufficient to enable the commissioner to determine whether the correct amount of floor stocks tax has been reported and paid.

Rail Freight Curb Extended

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 — The rail freight embargo clamped on New York was extended today to Boston as the wildcat longshoremen's strike tied up shipping in both cities and threatened to spread to other east coast ports.

In New York, the strike, now in its ninth day, has shut down virtually the entire port—the greatest in the world—and no immediate hope of peace was in sight.

Dramatic Corn Borer Battle Aided By Little Fly With A Long Name

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—A dramatic phase of insect warfare, fought by jungle law, but backed by three decades of scientific research, is quietly reaching a climax on the nation's seemingly peaceful cornfields.

The battle lines are carefully drawn by Agriculture Department scientists who are determined to rid the nation of the disastrous European corn borer.

These insect pests have threatened crop after crop throughout the Corn belt, wreaking as much as $350 million worth of damage in a single season.

Today the threat is greatly reduced. Corn borers are reported to be dying by the billions in large areas of the country.

The experts believe that 40 to 60 percent of them will be destroyed by season's end.

THIS BIG JOB is being done by a little fly with a long name—Ly-

Johnny Ryan Seriously Hurt In Mishap Here

A 55-year-old Circleville man was seriously injured early Tuesday morning in a traffic accident at the intersection of North Court street and Hayward avenue.

The accident happened at about 2 a. m. when a car driven by John A. C. Both were southbound.

Circleville Police Officers John White and Robert Temple said the tractor-trailer had halted for a traffic signal at the intersection.

Ryan was taken to Berger hospital for emergency treatment, later transferred to White Cross hospital, Columbus.

White Cross officials said he suffered a fractured pelvis, fractures of the upper and lower jaws, fractured nose, multiple lacerations, bruises and abdominal injuries. His condition was reported "good" at noon Tuesday.

Police said the front end of the auto was badly damaged. Minor damages to the rear of the trailer were reported.

Slot Machine Injunction Eyed By Urbana Court

URBANA, Oct. 23 — A motion to dismiss an injunction blocking enforcement of the state's new anti-slot machine law is under advisement today by Common Pleas Judge Arthur Tudor of Hardin County.

The development followed a brief hearing yesterday in the case of Albert Dodson of Urbana, operator of the United Amusements Co., which tests the constitutionality of the law making it a felony to possess, own or transport slot machines in Ohio.

Attorney General C. William O'Neill is pushing the test case.

Dodson has said he owns $10,000 worth of machines and has been granted a temporary restraining order prohibiting officials from taking action against him under the new law.

General Accepts Gift Of Oysters From U.S. Hotel

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's taste for oysters will be satisfied at the rate of a half a barrel a month between September and May.

The management of a St. Louis hotel said today that it plans to ship 300 chincoteague oysters during the eight-month season to the general at his Paris headquarters.

Hotel Manager Don Mumford said Eisenhower was delighted with the ocean-grown chincoteague oysters during his three visits to St. Louis in the last two years.

Mumford, concerned because the five-star general may not find European oysters as tasteful as the American kind, wrote Eisenhower asking if he would accept the monthly consignment as a gift of the hotel.

Mumford said the general accepted—with thanks.

Pickaway Farmers Lauded For Corn Borer Controls

Pickaway County corn growers were given a pat on the back Tuesday for having done a good job on the corn borer this year.

The pat came from Pickaway County Agent Larry Best, who commended local farmers for having cut the corn borer population here down by 50 percent.

"A recent survey completed by E. T. Hibbs of the experiment station and Gordon Smith of Ohio State university shows a corn borer population of only 63 borers per 100 stalks here this year," Best said.

"Last year's corn census was about twice as high, an average of 115 borers per 100 stalks."

Best added that this year's statewide borer count also is lower than last year's figure.

"THE STATE average for borer population was 89 borers per 100 stalks this year. Last year the figure was 163 borers per 100 stalks."

"The county borer population this fall does not appear to be large enough to do too much damage," Best added. "But control measures must be maintained to hold these pests within reasonable bounds."

"The extension agent suggested four ways in which the local corn grower may control the borers in next year's crop. They are:

1. Observe planting dates of May 12 to May 22 in order that first brood borer moth will not find corn plants on which they lay their eggs.
2. Chop, shred, or completely

Settlement Made For Injury

A $290.92 settlement for injuries to a four-year-old girl has been approved by Judge George D. Young in Pickaway County probate court.

The injuries were suffered by Susan Reichelderfer, daughter of James K. Reichelderfer, July 12 when she jumped from a fence at the rear of William W. Weldon's residence, 410 South Court street, and landed on a piece of glass from a broken bottle.

Weldon made the settlement while denying liability for the injuries.

plow under all stalks as soon as fall corn picking is completed. This either kills or prevents a high percentage of borers from overwintering in the stalks.

3. The use of DDT dust or spray in controlling corn borers is still very debatable as far as Pickaway County is concerned.

4. Clean farming—no weeds.

AS EXPLANATION for suggestion number three, Best said that producers of early market sweet corn for canning and hybrid seed may profit by trying to control borers with DDT, although the attempt to control the pests in the commercial field corn class with the insecticide is unprofitable.

"It appears that the borer population should be several times what it is at present before the DDT method of control will pay off," Best said.

More work has to be done on controlling borers with insecticides or a research basis before Pickaway County farmers should attempt it to any extent.

"If more local farmers will observe the suggested control methods already named the county borer population could still be materially reduced."

Modern Roads Needed To Cut Motoring Cost

AKRON, Oct. 23—A rubber industry spokesman said today that traffic congestion on America's highways is costing the motoring public $1 billion a year in extra operating costs.

Paul W. Litchfield, board chairman of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., stated that growing congestion is threatening the nation's mobility, "the key to the closely-knit pattern of American living." He declared:

"It is not the number of cars on the road or the size of trucks that produces this alarming situation."

"It is that we have too few modern roads. If we are to restore and improve our mobility, we must start building a new national highway system, designed for modern loads and speeds."

Litchfield pointed out that where as motor vehicle registration has increased 85 percent and total highway use 100 percent since 1935, highway construction is up only 17 percent in the same period.

FOOTBALL WILL STAY

COLLEGE football, which in recent years has become big business, is under fire. It is being attacked from the inside, so to speak, with much of the ammunition coming from the typewriters of college professors. With football coaches drawing larger salaries than those on the faculty some of these assaults have a personal motive.

But the objections go farther than that. They have resulted in some schools quitting football entirely. A notable example is the University of Chicago.

It is argued that football takes too much time that should be devoted to the real purposes of institutions of higher learning. With so much emphasis on football cultural features may be overlooked. At least that is the claim of those who would abolish the sport.

There have been scandals over the hiring of players. One of the more severe critics declares colleges and universities need only be good enough not to embarrass the football team.

Football, however, is not on its way out. The vast stadiums and the thousands who fill them on Saturday afternoon are here to stay. Some of the practices may be corrected, and more schools may abandon the sport, but football is an American institution which has the support of the public. Football fans dot on the days in the open and the thrill of competition.

NO ELEPHANT FOR HT

PRESIDENT Truman will not receive a white elephant as a gift from the king of Cambodia, after a diplomatic exchange between that country and Washington which lasted several months.

Last March King Norodom Sihanouk Varman sent word through diplomatic channels that he was sending the animal to the President as a gesture of good will. President Truman was ribbed for accepting the symbol of the Republican Party, but the President said he would give the animal to the Washington Zoo.

The matter was regarded more seriously in Cambodia, where tradition demands that white elephants be the sole property of the king. Many obstacles were placed in the job of transportation. It was difficult to find a caretaker willing to make the trip, or a ship to carry the beast.

Much diplomatic correspondence followed, letters couched in best diplomatic phrases, and carrying mutual felicitations.

Finally matters were arranged, the elephant put aboard a ship bound for the United States, amply supplied with food and care. But the beast was a poor traveler and died at sea. Now the king is going to send another token of friendship, something easier to transport.

These Days

Gen. Douglas MacArthur is introducing into current American politics an altogether new tone. He has by self-appointment made himself the philosophic leader of the Republican Party.

It is important to note that his acceptance has been almost universal in the rank and file of the party and by extraordinarily large numbers of non-party persons and Democrats, particularly Southern Democrats.

While it is impossible even to hope now for a reorganization of parties to include men of identical views in each party, it is not impossible to rally citizens of divergent views about the personality of MacArthur.

He is able, as he did in his Miami speech, to establish a basis for the Republican platform and for the campaign that is to be fought. The Republicans dare not, even if they would, ignore the position adopted by MacArthur because he has clarified issues which they have been developing, thus ending confusion. Senators, such as Lodge, Saltonstall, Ives, Duff and Morse, cannot reject MacArthur without imperiling themselves.

Secondly, while MacArthur is not a candidate for the presidency, the Republican rank and file accept his judgment as to the availability of a candidate. Because his judgment is based not on personality but on principle, those who would contest his intellectual leadership will have to attack his principles, which cannot be done without defending President Harry Truman, Gen. George Marshall and Dean Acheson, and that no Republican can do and survive.

This was MacArthur's achievement before the American Legion in Miami. Many reached the conclusion that MacArthur did not, on that occasion, endorse Senator Taft. Actually, he did. By one stroke, he made it impossible for either General Eisenhower or Thomas E. Dewey to assume any form of leadership in the party without a quarrel over his propositions, a quarrel which would so split the party as to guarantee a Democratic victory. Should their leadership assert itself and succeed, then his has failed. The issue is as clear as that. Should Taft become the leader and candidate, MacArthur's keynote speech stands, for they are in agreement.

It was a political tour de force and may yet achieve a greater unity in the party than has existed since 1936. For whereas many Republicans favor Eisenhower, none can afford to oppose MacArthur in principle except Sen. Wayne Morse, who, from the standpoint of the party, does not matter much.

The danger to Taft's aspirations is that many who are opposed to him may turn from Eisenhower to MacArthur as a candidate. Should Winston Churchill become prime minister at 77, the argument against MacArthur becoming President at 73 would be weakened. And if age is gauged by arteries, MacArthur is as young as he looks.

The Taft management seems to be assured that this will not happen and, at this stage, it is not very important. What does matter is that "me-tooism," the invention of Wendell Willkie, and the bipartisan foreign policy, the product of Senator Vandenberg, John Foster Dulles and Dewey, are dead. It must be remembered that in 1944, Dewey and Roosevelt, through General Marshall, reached an agreement limiting the debate within specific margins. In effect, this was an agreement between the Democratic and the Republican parties to withhold from the American people specific-

CHAPTER ONE

"NICHOLAS," said Dr. Mollie Brooks purposefully, "shouldn't you..."

"Probably not, if you use that tone."

"I'll still say it. Shouldn't you do something for young Dr. Shepherd?"

"What sort of something?"

Warily Dr. Cowan eyed the golden-haired girl. "Does he need something done for him?" This was the polite voice with which Nicholas withdrew from personal claims made upon him.

"Any young man," said Mollie, with determination, "any young doctor, exposed simultaneously to the Group and Gentile Square, needs all the help he can muster. You say his father was your friend..."

"A great many years ago."

"Yes, Mollie."

He grinned. "What do you suggest I do for this babe in the woods?"

"Well—you could invite him here for dinner."

He considered that; to do so, he got up and walked about the room, coming finally to stand in front of the couch where Mollie sat, his hand stroking his thick hair. "I might invite him to dinner," he conceded.

Mollie stood up, a slender young woman in crisply tailored green gabardine. "And when you do," she said briskly, "you should warn him about his landlady. Yes, you should, Nicholas. Tell the boy how she—er—distorts the truth. Warn him never to tell Clara a thing!"

"If your new surgical resident is any kind of a doctor, he's already learned not to talk."

"If he's any kind of doctor, he'll talk his head off over what he considers unimportant things. We all do. And that's the danger. Clara takes those little things and makes her big stories around them. That's what you should warn him about."

"But I won't."

Mollie frowned with surprise and protest. "If you're at all interested in your friend's son—"

"I'm not especially. And I don't want to be."

"But—you said his father—"

"His father was my friend. It was a great relief when he died. Now, don't look shocked. Some friends are a tremendous nuisance!"

Mollie turned away from him and walked a step toward the hall where Sylvester had put her coat. "You make yourself out to be a monster of coldness," she said over her shoulder.

"And I'm not?"

She whirled; he stood where she had left him, his eyes bright. "Of course you're not! Look at the way you've been with me, the kindness you've shown me—for 10 years!"

Nicholas took a pipe out of his pocket. "Oh, that's different," he said quietly. "I'm in love with you."

It took a time for her to realize what he had said. Her head went up alertly, in the way a startled animal lifts his when he senses danger is near; her lids dropped a little and her hazel eyes slanted toward him warily. "You're joking..." she said uneasily.

"Not at all." The pipe went back into his pocket, and he came toward her, treading softly, swiftly upon the silky carpet. His hands fell upon her shoulders, and he looked deeply into her eyes. "Mollie, darling, surely this needs no telling. Surely, you know!"

His tone and manner convinced her that he was not joking. But beyond that—She was actually frightened by his intensity. Nicholas! After all this time! It wasn't like him. She didn't want him to be this way! Her lips twisted, and troubled fear darkened her eyes. He dropped his hands, and stepped back, his own face a little pale.

"You don't love me, Mollie? Is that it?"

She looked down at his shoes on the rosy carpet...

"Mollie? Answer me."

Mollie threw her head upward, her hair flying. "I don't—love you!" she said harshly. Then her face brightened. "I'm grateful to you, of course—"

"Agh!" his hand plunged into his pocket and drew out the pipe again. He walked over to the mahogany humidor and lifted its lid with a sharp little crash.

Mollie watched him in anguish. She wished he hadn't said those words; she wished he still were Nicholas, calm, perfect, untouched by human emotions. That was the Nicholas whom she admired, the Nicholas she wanted him to remain.

"You don't mean—actually—love, do you, Nicholas?" she said plaintively.

He glanced at her, his face stern. "I mean just that. And all that it implies. I'm asking you to marry me, Mollie. You've considered marrying? I hope."

"But I can't marry you!" she cried frantically. "I can't marry a—critical man!"

His head snapped up, his eyes were shocked. "Am I?" he asked. Then he nodded. "Yes. I daresay I have seemed to be..."

Mollie felt as if she would weep, as if she could. "Critical" was the wrong word; she'd meant only his superior wisdom and experience. "I never dreamed..." she began in an anguished tone. "I thought we were friends. I thought—Oh, Nicholas, you've been so kind to me, and if you've been counting on my marrying you—I'm sorry! I thought..."

His face was cold now. Almost angry. "I hope you would not suggest that I picked you out for a wife and trained you—"

"You did train me," she said soberly.

He looked at her speculatively above the pipe cupped in his hand. "I'm extremely sorry," he said in a tired voice, "if it ever seemed that I was doing that."

"What were you doing when you told me to cut my hair and stop wearing glasses?"

"Only giving you a hand, my dear, across the rough spots in your growth. You had to grow, of course."

"And you wanted me to grow your way."

He winced, his eyes closing as if she had struck him, or come close to doing so. "Mollie," he said earnestly, "if you hadn't changed a thread—if such a thing were possible, not to change in 10 years' time—I liked the girl you were 10 years ago."

"But the way I am now—you like that girl better."

"The way you are now—I love you."

There it was again, that intensity. From Nicholas, she couldn't bear it. "I'm sorry," she said again, in a stifled tone, and went swiftly to the hall, snatched up her coat and let herself out to the smoky night air.

The season's prize for ingenuity goes to the antique dealer who had five rickety statues for sale, and labeled them "The Five Senses." Somebody bought one, and a new sign was put over the remaining four: "The Four Seasons." Another was sold, and the new sign read, "The Three Graces." When only two statues were left, they became "Night and Day." Finally, only one remained. The dealer called it "Solitude." Some of the practices may be corrected, and more schools may abandon the sport, but football is an American institution which has the support of the public. Football fans dote on the days in the open and the thrill of competition.

NO ELEPHANT FOR HT

PRESIDENT Truman will not receive a white elephant as a gift from the king of Cambodia, after a diplomatic exchange between that country and Washington which lasted several months.

Last March King Norodom Shianouk Varman sent word through diplomatic channels that he was sending the animal to the President as a gesture of good will. President Truman was ribbed for accepting the symbol of the Republican Party, but the President said he would give the animal to the Washington Zoo.

The matter was regarded more seriously in Cambodia, where tradition demands that white elephants be the sole property of the king. Many obstacles were placed in the job of transportation. It was difficult to find a caretaker willing to make the trip, or a ship to carry the beast.

Much diplomatic correspondence followed, letters couched in best diplomatic phrases, and carrying mutual felicitations.

Finally matters were arranged, the elephant put aboard a ship bound for the United States, amply supplied with food and care. But the beast was a poor traveler and died at sea. Now the king is going to send another token of friendship, something easier to transport.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

The fellow who got a prize for research in yellow fever still can't quite believe it. He never ran 80 yards for a touchdown, negotiated an RFC loan while a federal officer or peddled dope and still he made page one.

The award carries a cash prize of $32,000. The government will help him split the honors, but he can keep the medal. So far they haven't figured a way to take a 40 per cent out of a medal.

He was surprised because he didn't think anybody was interested in things like combatting scourge diseases when all the emphasis is on "how many people will this weapon kill?"

That man Nobel, who founded the award system, was an odd fellow; he invented dynamite with the naive idea that a powerful explosive was a boon to mankind.

And he had no more than demonstrated how you could blow up a mountain with it than the military was planning how to blow up a population.

Some said he later wished he had invented chocolate syrup.

Bennett Cerf's Try, Stop Me

The season's prize for ingenuity goes to the antique dealer who had five rickety statues for sale, and labeled them "The Five Senses." Somebody bought one, and a new sign was put over the remaining four: "The Four Seasons." Another was sold, and the new sign read, "The Three Graces." When only two statues were left, they became "Night and Day." Finally, only one remained. The dealer called it "Solitude." When that was gone, the dealer locked up his shop, and left a sign reading, "Gone fishing. Back when the factory turns out some more antiques."

Betty Smith, author of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," admits that she hasn't been back to her home borough once since her novel hit the best seller lists. "Don't get me wrong," she says. "I love Brooklyn—to remember—but not to go back to." Now that the play version of "A Tree" is set to duplicate the success of the book and movie, Miss Smith will go back to a half-finished new novel. Tentative title: "Look Backward with a Smile."

Wilhelmina M. Perkins,
Howard M. Orr Are Wed
In Bay City, Michigan

Leave By Plane
For Bermuda

Palms and bouquets of white chrysanthemums formed the altar setting in Trinity Episcopal church in Bay City, Mich., Saturday for the wedding of Miss Wilhelmina M. Perkins and Howard McCreary Orr. White satin bows marked the aisle pews.

Two hundred guests witnessed the rites which were read by the Rev. David T. Davies at 4 p. m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Perkins of Bay City and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Howard A. Orr of South Court street and the late Mr. Orr.

Given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a bridal gown of ivory satin with a dainty seed-pearl design, styled with a Peter Pan collar, long fitted sleeves and a molded bodice buttoned to the waistline. Her bouffant skirt swept into a cathedral train.

A finger-tip veil of imported French illusion fell from a tiny hat and she carried a cascade bouquet of white spider chrysanthemums arranged with bouvardia and camellia foliage.

Six attendants, gowned in silver green brocade, preceded the bride to the altar. Their dresses were designed with portrait necklines and bouffant skirts.

Matching green velvet sashes circled their waists to form bows in back and the same velvet accented their tiny net caps. They carried cascade bouquets of bronze spider and daisy chrysanthemums.

A cousin of the bride, Mrs. Hugh G. Hanson was matron of honor and another cousin, Miss Jean Mertens, along with Mrs. David G. Orr of Circleville, Mrs. John R. Hamill of Detroit, Miss Dorothea Kelton and Miss Barbara Babcock were bridesmaids.

Perkins, both brothers of the bride, and William Heffner of Circleville, Bruce Laing, of Dowagiac, Mich., William K. Whiteford of Toronto, Ont., and William S. Bowman of Wauseon.

Mrs. Ella Stonehouse of Detroit was the soloist accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Pettit, organist.

Mrs. Perkins greeted her reception guests in the Country Club, wearing a cornflower blue faille afternoon dress with lace inserts at the neckline. She wore a corsage of brown cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Orr chose a navy and blue velvet suit and a frost white hat. Her corsage was of cream cymbidium orchids.

The bridal table was centered with baby mums and bouvardia, arranged with smilax.

The Misses Grace Mertens, and Kathleen McMorris, Mrs. Charles S. Moore of Birmingham, Mich., and Mrs. J. Dewitt Utley of St. Clair Shores, Mich., were assisting hostesses at the reception.

Following the reception, the new Mrs. Orr changed to a three-piece tweed suit with matching hat and accessories for their wedding trip by airliner to Bermuda.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of University of Michigan. The bride's sorority is Kappa Alpha Theta. The bridegroom, a graduate of Circleville high school, also attended Loomis Academy in Windsor, Conn., and is affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi. On their return the couple will live in Arlington, Va.

LOSES 35 LBS. WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Mrs. Frank Snyder, Millfield, Ohio writes, "I have lost 35 lbs. since taking Rennel Concentrate and I am so pleased with the results that I have recommended it to many of my friends. Rennel has also relieved me of that stuffed up feeling and I no longer feel all tired out. I feel better in every way and look younger."

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

"PINE TREE" SHILLINGS

The early "Pine Tree" shillings, minted in 1652, have a very interesting history. A John Hull minted these coins for the Colony, receiving a substantial amount of shillings in return for his work. In presenting his daughter her dowry he had her placed on a huge scale balancing her with "Pine Tree" shillings.

FACTS ABOUT MONEY!

"PINE TREE" SHILLINGS

The early "Pine Tree" shillings, minted in 1652, have a very interesting history. A John Hull minted these coins for the Colony, receiving a substantial amount of shillings in return for his work. In presenting his daughter her dowry he had her placed on a huge scale balancing her with "Pine Tree" shillings.

Sugar To Box For $1 Purse

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23—William P. Kyne, San Francisco promoter, announced today that Sugar Ray Robinson has agreed to meet Harold Green of New York in a mid-weight championship bout.

The 15-round bout, will be staged in the Cow Palace in San Francisco the evening of Dec. 8, with Robinson fighting for a purse of $1.

All of the profits, except for Green's $16,000 purse, are to go to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Negro Grid Star Still In Hospital After Dixie Tilt

DES MOINES, Oct. 23—Johnny Bright, Drake university's sensation football player, remained in a Des Moines hospital today for treatment of an injury inflicted illegally by an Oklahoma A. and M. lineman.

Doctors said they still are uncertain how long the nation's leading ground gainer will be sidelined by the broken jaw he suffered in last Saturday's game in Still water, Okla.

Drake officials have received apologies from Argie Coach J. B. Whitforth, Athletic Director Henry Iba and Wilbanks Smith, the 220-pound tackle who put Bright out of commission.

All three expressed regret over Bright's injury, but denied that the action was deliberate. Whitforth said motion pictures of the game showed that Smith used his arms and shoulder illegally in charging the Negro half-back. Bright and his teammates charged that Smith used his fists on the Drake star.

Sentiment on the Drake campus still is running high. Bright, who has broken all collegiate rushing records, was taken from the game after 10 plays and the Aggies went on to win, 27 to 14, snapping Drake's five-game winning streak.

The incident also came to the attention of Iowa Gov. William S. Beardsley, who told a news conference:

"Sportsmanship is at a low ebb when an outstanding player like Johnny Bright is subjected to such abuse. I deplore it."

Aggies officials said no disciplinary action is planned against Smith because they are convinced he "meant no harm."

Bearcats Losing 3 Key Players
CINCINNATI, Oct. 23—Cincinnati university's Bearcats, Ohio's leading undefeated football team, today faces the loss of three key players.

Coach Sid Gillman said two expected to be called for military duty and a third was dropped for scholastic ineligibility.

Facing induction are Norb Shimbinski, 220-pound regular defensive tackle from Mansfield, and Frank Anthony, 225-pound tackle from Erie, Pa.

Stan Godlewski, 190-pound guard from Lorain, was declared ineligible for scholastic deficiency.

Only 7 Razors Among 40 'Men'
CHICAGO, Oct. 23—The influx of freshmen players on college football teams this year was pointed up at the Quarterback Club in Chicago.

Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy reported yesterday that on the Irish visit to Detroit the baggage of the 40-man team was inspected and only seven razors were found.

"We found yo-yos, comic books and cracker jack," said Leahy.

Ike Armstrong, athletic director at Minnesota, said when Coach Wes Fesler opened practice he asked all who shaved to step forward and "they formed our first team."

Sugar To Box For $1 Purse

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23—William P. Kyne, San Francisco promoter, announced today that Sugar Ray Robinson has agreed to meet Harold Green of New York in a mid-weight championship bout.

The 15-round bout, will be staged in the Cow Palace in San Francisco the evening of Dec. 8, with Robinson fighting for a purse of $1.

All of the profits, except for Green's $18,000 purse, are to go to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Negro Grid Star Still In Hospital After Dixie Tilt

DES MOINES, Oct. 23—Johnny Bright, Drake university's sensational football player, remained in a Des Moines hospital today for treatment of an injury inflicted illegally by an Oklahoma A. and M. lineman.

Doctors said they still are uncertain how long the nation's leading ground gainer will be sidelined by the broken jaw he suffered in last Saturday's game in Still water, Okla.

Drake officials have received apologies from Aggie Coach J. B. Whitworth, Athletic Director Henry Iba and Wilbanks Smith, the 220-pound tackle who put Bright out of commission.

All three expressed regret over Bright's injury, but denied that the action was deliberate. Whitworth said motion pictures of the game showed that Smith used his arms and shoulder illegally in charging the Negro half-back. Bright and his teammates charged that Smith used his fists on the Drake star.

Sentiment on the Drake campus still is running high. Bright, who has broken all collegiate rushing records, was taken from the game after 10 plays and the Aggies went on to win, 27 to 14, snapping Drake's five-game winning streak.

The incident also came to the attention of Iowa Gov. William S. Beardsley, who told a news conference:

"Sportsmanship is at a low ebb when an outstanding player like Johnny Bright is subjected to such abuse. I deplore it."

Aggie officials said no disciplinary action is planned against Smith because they are convinced he "meant no harm."

Ratterman Due Back With New York Yank '11'

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 — George Ratterman, a "Hoping Cassidy" on the pro football range, appears today to be headed back to the New York Yanks.

The talented T - quarterback, whose hop from the National Football League to the Canadian League occasioned a law suit by Yank Owner Ted Collins, may be in a New York uniform Sunday.

Observers believe "all will be forgiven" by the winless Yanks although Collins wouldn't say "yes" and didn't say "no."

The 26-year-old Ratterman, whose specialty is T-wizardry and passing, played college ball for Notre Dame. He left after his junior year and signed with Buffalo of the All-American Conference. He came to the Yanks when the AAC merged with the NFL.

George jumped to the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian League before this season. Collins' suit contended that George still had two years to go on a three-year contract calling for $40,500.

Reports said the suit was settled outside of court and that Ratterman had had his fill of Canadian football.

These Days

ic data which they were entitled to have discussed in a presidential campaign.

Such Republicans as Herbert Hoover and Taft were openly opposed to this arrangement when it was made, but they were overwhelmed by the war atmosphere of the time.

Now, however, MacArthur has brought the consequences of these arrangements to public attention in so eloquent a projection of his own philosophy that no Republican can risk his wrath. He has made Marshall, Acheson and Eisenhower and what they have stood for since 1945, and possibly since 1943, the Republican issue.

He did not limit himself to Korea or China or even to foreign policy. He made it all of one piece and then mounted our domestic affairs on top of it and showed it to be toppling over. To deny the accuracy of his bill of particulars would be futile; the facts establish not only the sureness of his findings but the reliability of his data. To contest his facts is to support those offered by Acheson, which would leave the Republicans without an issue.

From the Miami speech until the Republican convention on July 7, 1952, MacArthur will be the keynote of his party.

Fesler 'Feels' For Mr. Hayes

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23 — Minnesota Coach Wes Fesler, who was forced to leave Ohio State last year by the yapping of Columbus critics, feels sorry for "poor Woody Hayes."

Fesler said last night that Hayes, who is hearing the alumni wolves breathing down his back, is in for quite an ordeal including "nasty phone calls all night long and about 800 of the meanest letters you ever saw."

"I know, believe me," said Fesler.

Brucellosis Victory Is Predicted As Coming In Another Four Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 — Agriculture Department scientists say that brucellosis—undulant fever in animals—can be eliminated from the nation's dairy herds by 1955.

Brucellosis costs farmers almost $100 million a year through the loss of millions of pounds of milk and thousands of calves.

In addition, upwards of 7,000 persons annually acquire undulant fever from infected animals or animal products.

The men who are planning national strategy against brucellosis believe their task can be accomplished within four years if farmers and veterinarians cooperate.

Most farmers are ready to do so because when brucellosis hits it hits hard. Infected cows produce 22 percent less milk and 40 percent fewer calves.

THERE ARE other liabilities, too: Temporary or permanent sterility, breaks in the ranks of valuable purebred families, costly replacements and lower value of infected cattle.

The disease isn't widespread—it affects about 3.1 percent of the nation's cattle. But it is dangerous.

Any farmer with brucellosis in his herd will cooperate to eliminate it, but scientists say that in many cases he doesn't realize it exists.

Recently a group of department workers set out to make a movie about the disease and approached a prosperous goat farmer for permission to take pictures of his herd.

At first the farmer was reluctant to permit his healthy animals to be used in a picture about disease, but finally he relented and took the group down to the barn to see the animals.

The first thing they saw when they reached the barn lot was one of the finest females, which had just had an abortion.

"Brucellosis!" the experts gasped.

The scientists said the disease was easy to trace. Some time earlier a salesman delivered feed and brought along two healthy-looking goats. The farmers looked them over, liked them and bought them.

Tests showed that they were the carriers of the disease.

Ratterman Due Back With New York Yank '11'

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 — George Ratterman, a "Hoplalong Cassidy" on the pro football range, appears today to be headed back to the New York Yanks.

The talented T-quarterback, whose hop from the National Football League to the Canadian League occasioned a law suit by Yank Owner Ted Collins, may be in a New York uniform Sunday.

Observers believe "all will be forgiven" by the winless Yanks although Collins wouldn't say "yes" and didn't say "no."

The 26-year-old Ratterman, whose specialty is T-wizardry and passing, played college ball for Notre Dame. He left after his junior year and signed with Buffalo of the All-American Conference. He came to the Yanks when the AAC merged with the NFL.

George jumped to the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian League before this season. Collins' suit contended that George still had two years to go on a three-year contract calling for $40,500.

Reports said the suit was settled outside of court and that Ratterman had had his fill of Canadian football.

Fesler 'Feels' For Mr. Hayes

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23—Minnesota Coach Wes Fesler, who was forced to leave Ohio State last year by the yapping of Columbus critics, feels sorry for "poor Woody Hayes."

Fesler said last night that Hayes, who is hearing the alumni wolves breathing down his back, is in for quite an ordeal including "nasty" phone calls all night long and about 300 of the meanest letters you ever saw.

"I know, believe me," said Fesler.
